Does this ring a bell? Do not ever contact me again. We're coming after you, and those you coconspired with.

Wow, Amir. I haven't done anything maliciously and I have been nothing but cordial throughout this process. AND I already knew you had that information plus more - I would suggest that you meet Shayne and I for coffee today to sit down and discuss, since now what you've done has involved him without your realization. If I don't hear from you today on that, I will take your silence as intent and will unfortunately have to pursue an avenue that I do not wish to, but will.

Don't worry. It's 1 hour, 55 minutes long. You'll hear from us soon.

Let me know a time you want to meet for coffee. Again, If I don't hear from you today on that I will pursue an avenue that I do not wish to, but will.

You've made enough poor judgement calls that are going to cost you and people around you so much. Go ahead and be my guest. Do more damage to yourself. Pursue your avenues, don't wait on me.
